

Glasgow Community Food Support Directory

The Pantry model is a dignified approach which empowers communities and saves surplus food from landfill.

Pantries are shops which provide low cost food as well as providing a community hub setting, offering wrap-around support services within the local area. The Scottish Food Pantry Network (TSPN) helps to create pantries in communities to provide ongoing support. The TSPN report the growth of the network to date has proven the support model in place is positively impacting on communities in Scotland. The TSPN continually assess the needs of the Pantries to find solutions, resources and partner organisations that can further enhance and support the model. They are focused on the current economic crisis and strive to support members to challenge all forms of poverty, with projects in place that will support members becoming more sustainable. Food available includes a mixture of fresh and frozen food, toiletries and cleaning products, with period products also available depending on availability. The free PickupMyPeriod Apps helps identify local area sites where free period products can be accessed. Free period products - mygov.scot

TSPN provides organisations and community groups with expert advice, step by step guidance, and strategic support in order to ensure that they are a sustainable community asset. TSPN members use a creative model and strength-based approach to tackle food insecurity, health inequalities and poverty by offering an engaging and tailored service. For more information on the Scottish Food Pantry Network, see here: <https://www.scottishpantrynetwork.org.uk>.

Govan Community Project provide referral 'vouchers' for asylum seekers so that they can access their local Pantry for free. Follow this link for more information; Food Support – Govan Community Project. Referrals are available for people in the asylum process, who are destitute and/or have no recourse to public funds. Additionally, a variety of providers/projects (including Thrive Under 5 project, housing providers and third sector organisations) are offering Pantry vouchers/pay it forward schemes in collaboration with local Pantries/Larders and Community Supermarkets.

Community Transport Glasgow provides free transport to Ruchazie Pantry for members (This is up to date at the last edit of this document but please double check whether the service is still available). This must be booked at least 24 hours in advance. The bus provides door to door service within an allocated time slot. Call 0141 778 2042 and quote your membership number to book transport.

Some of the provisions listed follow a similar model but are categorised as Community Grocers, Larders or Food Points rather than Pantries.

Please note that during current times, the picture regarding provision of the following services is quickly evolving. Please check online via the links and QR codes for the most up to date information before passing information onto service users.
